The power steering pump on your Acura TL pressurizes the power steering fluid to make your vehicle easier to turn. The power steering pump typically connected to the steering gearbox or rack and pinion unit using hoses to move pressurized fluid to and from the gearbox. The power steering pump may fail with time, or due to low power steering fluid levels and will need to be replaced to restore your Acura's handling.

Since the day of the car purchased in 2006 the steering was very harder than other cars we used before and consulted with the dealer. I was told that Acura TL is a sports car and the steering will be harder than other manufactures. This problem continued and a recall from the manufacture replaced power steering hose which was defective.
