The cigar lighter of an Audi A4 happens to be a cylinder-shaped electrical element. At the bottom of it is a conductive part with 2 tabs allowing the circulation of electricity to heat the resistance of the cigarette lighter. Therefore the user will activate it by pushing the button. This will bring the resistor into contact with the tabs.

On my 2010 A6 Avant (and according to the manual) the fuse for the front lighter is in the panel behind the left hand end of the dash - the fuses are housed in both ends of the dash - and the fuse for the rear lighter is behind the panel on the right hand side of the load bay (on mine it is the one with the string retaining net).

Cigarette Lighter Fuse location? | Audi-Sport.net

The fuse covering the 12v socket (Cigarette lighter) is not in the fusebox in the engine compartment. According to my Sportback (2007) manual you need to replace fuse in the fusebox located at the driver's end of the dashboard. Just pull off the cover and replace fuse 24 with a new 20amp fuse. Hopefully that will cure the problem.
