There's been a few weird new drinks taking off this year and not all of them have been great.

As a journalist spurred by curiosity and thirst, Lucy Burningham made it her career to write about craft beer,

traveling to hop farms,
attending rare
beer-tasting parties,
and visiting as many
taprooms, breweries,
and festivals as possible. With this as her introduction, Lucy decided to take her relationship with beer
to the next level: to become a certified beer expert. As Lucy

studies and sips her way to becoming a Certified Cicerone, she meets an eclectic cast of characters, including brewers, hop farmers, beer sommeliers, pub owners, and fanatical beer drinkers. Her journey into the world of beer is by turns educational, social, and personal—just as

What do you get when you cross a journalist and a banker? A brewery, of course. "A great city should have great beer. New York finally has, thanks to Brooklyn. Steve Hindy and Tom Potter provided it. Beer

one readers can relate to, and the clear that they learned a lot along the way. Readers can learn from these lessons too." □Michael

Preston, Adjunct Professor, Lang Center for Entrepreneurship, Columbia Business School, and coauthor, The Road to Success: How to Manage Growth "Although we

(thankfully!) never had to deal with the Mob, being held up at gunpoint, or having our beer and equipment ripped off, we definitely identified with the challenges faced in those early days of cobbling a brewery together. The revealing story Steve and Tom tell about two partners entering a business out of passion, in an industry they knew little about, being seriously undercapitalized, with an overly naive business plan, and their ultimate success, is an inspiring tale."

□ Ken Grossman,
