Acknowledging
goes with talking. When you acknowledge
others while talking, they feel understood.
Even if you don't agree with what the other person is saying, it is important that the person feels heard. No one likes to feel trapped in a one-way conversation. Acknowledging not only allows you to assure the person that you are

listening, but gives you an opportunity to
interject during
the conversation.

Acknowledging Is
a Learned Skill
Too often people
feel they are working in a
vacuum, because no matter how well they perform, nobody notices. Or, if their manager notices, they make overly general comments, such as, “I appreciate your efforts” or “thanks for the good job.”
