If American Beauty is to be believed, life really can change in an instant. Or at least in the time it takes for a middle-aged man to develop a crush on a teenage girl. American Beauty 's main character, Lester Burnham, starts out the movie as a sad sack—as he puts it himself, it's like he's "sedated" and has given up on enjoying life.

First and foremost, American Beauty is a kind of rose—and as you have already gathered, roses are kind of a big deal in this movie. Then, of course, there is the fact that the movie is pretty concerned with American life and how image-conscious (read: superficial) Americans can be—at least according to the movie's portrayal.
