This combination was wicked, and given the lightness of the engine compared to a senior six derivative, and the significantly lighter interior on a non-M5, this car whipped standard E34 M5 cars. I've been eyeing rust free E34 Tourings lately, and thinking S54 transplant, that would probably rival the 3.8 cars that terrorized europe as the ...

BMW 5 Series (E34) - Wikipedia

The S38B38 “ big six ” engine from an E34 M5 can be swapped into an E30 but it is not an easy swap. The engine weighs about 100 pounds more than an M20 and the mounts, driveshaft, plumbing, and electronics all have to be fabricated. The E30 engine bay is large and many engines, both BMW and non-BMW, have been swapped into it over the years.

The engine ran fine for many years after word. Of course on the other extreme I've spend just $2,000 redoing a Korman stage II head with all new parts before (in 1997 $). I'd say the range for an engine rebuild is $1,200-5,000 if you do the work yourself. Check with your local machine shop on rates for engine boring, engine head rebuilds etc.

The BMW bug didn't bite until I was in high school and saw an E34. I just loved the styling, but I never drove one until I bought a '92 BMW 525, which I picked up in 2005 or so, and I became a BMW convert from there. Over about a seven-year period, I built the car and ended up swapping in a turbo M52 engine along with countless other mods.
