From modest anti-establishment tweaking and a penchant for "more popular than Jesus" pot-stirring, Lennon grew into an influential voice of the peace ...

The Beatles – Come Together Lyrics | Genius Lyrics
This killer track from Abbey Road got its start as a quickie acoustic song written for Timothy Leary, but once Lennon brought it to the group "Come Together" took on an entirely new life. In spite of the lawsuits and covers that have stemmed from the track it's still one of the all-time great Beatles tracks that sounds as fresh today as it did in 1969.

In 1969, Leary decided to run for Governor of California, and asked John Lennon to write a song for him. If you like the Beatles or John Lennon you'll love this book. It's about John's life with the Beatles and his life as one of the biggest peace activists of his time all the way up till he was assassinated. Music publisher Morris Levy wound up suing John Lennon, the songwriter of "Come Together," over the lines, "Here come old flat-top / He come groovin' up slowly." This line resembles Berry's "Here come a flat-top / He was movin' up with me," which was grounds enough for a suit.

There were plagiarism allegations against John Lennon. The Beatles began recording 'Come Together' on 21 July 1969, recording eight takes in Abbey Road's studio three. Three of the takes – four, five, and seven – were incomplete, and take six was selected as the basis of the album version. Take one, with slightly different lyrics and a raw vocal from John Lennon, can be heard on the Anthology 3 album, and take five can be heard on some formats of the 50th anniversary reissue of Abbey Road.

'Come Together', the lead song on The Beatles' Abbey Road album, was conceived by John Lennon as a political rallying cry for the writer, psychologist and pro-drugs activist Timothy Leary. It was a funky record – it's one of my favorite Beatle tracks, or, one of my favourite Lennon tracks, let's say that.
