It is reported that there are many Davis families (Davies) located in much of rural southeast Wales, particularly in the Usk Valley (Usk, Raglan, Abergavenny). Determining their home would be dependent on establishing what was their specific trade (farmers, miners, or metalworkers), which should at least identify the region in Wales.

Davis, Sarah - McLean County Museum of History

Davis urged upon his commander that all the cavalry at the doomed post be allowed to cut their way out. It was reluctantly agreed to and the attempt was made on the night of September 14, 1862. After a series of minor collisions with Confederate pickets, the 8th managed to stumble upon the enemy wagons and Davis was able, the darkness concealing the color of his uniform, to order the train ...
