"From Alpha to Omega" is an introduction to the classical Greek of Athens (Attic). I'm using it in conjunction with Pharr as I attempt to study Homeric Greek. There are some differences in the dialects, but I like Groton's text because it provides explanations that are relevant to Homer's Greek, and I find the layout much easier to navigate than Pharr's.

Designed to accompany Anne H. Groton's "From Alpha to Omega", "Fourth Edition," this book of ancillary exercises reinforces grammatical and syntactical knowledge, helps develop an operational vocabulary, and improves oral proficiency. "Ancillary Exercises" presents concepts from the textbook in new ways, helping students overcome any problem-areas. Instructors can use the exercises in class, or since answers are provided in the back of "Ancillary Exercises," students can practice on their own time and at their own pace. Jon Bruss has taught Classical Greek at the college level for over fifteen years. He received his PhD from the University of Minnesota.

With straightforward advice and informative readings of the great Greek texts, the authors show how we might still save classics and the Greeks for future generations. Who Killed Homer? is must reading for anyone who agrees that knowledge of classics acquaints us with the beauty and perils of our own culture.

Second edition of best-selling one-year introductory course in ancient Greek for students and adults. This volume contains a narrative adapted entirely from ancient authors in order to encourage students rapidly to develop their reading skills. The texts and numerous illustrations also provide a good introduction to Greek culture.

"This graded reader is designed as a supplemental resource for the fourth edition of Anne H. Groton's From alpha to omega: a beginning course in classical Greek (Focus Publishing, 2013)"--Preface.
