Adjusting the master volume down to 2 or 3 and then slowly adjust the gain to 5. If your amp has a boost, turn it up. This will produce a distorted sound. To control the amount of distortion, turn down the master volume and bring up the gain to achieve a working listening level — the idea is to get the gain nearly maxed out (in the fully clockwise position, or about 5:00) while still being at a reasonable listening volume level.
