The bike was quickly and unceremoniously relegated to the garage, I arranged for a mate to cart it away and repair it the next day, and I continued to my Shropshire home by train, a journey which was very pleasant, but not cheap. I have since heard that the clutch components had all turned blue, the cush drive had melted, all the oil had gone from the chaincase even though I filled it before ...

The following new parts fitted: headlight and headlight bracket, indicators, seat cover, exhaust, stainless steel spokes to front rim, two new tyres, Renthal bars and battery. Everything works except the lights to the rev counter and speedo, the wiring was to have been refurbished during re-built. Also planned a new chain and sprockets.
