We've all heard that quote that compares love to flowers. If you love a flower, don't pick it up, because then it dies or whatever. Love is about appreciation, not possession (blah blah blah). I never really understood that saying until recently, when loving someone from afar has been both a heartbreaking and humbling experience.

Loving From Afar The Women Of Independence Book 1

It makes me think I love better from afar. On the Day He Was Born. I remember where I was the day my fourth son was born. I wasn't by his side as would be the case in a standard birth of a child. I was an unbeliever the day he came into the world. I was a self-consumed woman who certainly was not on mission to find him or love him.
