"Nothing but the Truth" is a pun, really, to the theme of the book. In a court of law, the judge will make a witness swear on the bible that they will tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Which is not always the case. People tell small lies, exaggerate, and often bend the truth, so to speak, and the end result is ...

2. What is a good definition of 'Nothing'? Nothing is the absence of something where that something and the container for that something are both well-defined. For example, if the universe in question is a shoebox and something is described as a solid object, the concept of 'nothing' is that shoebox being empty. 3.

So, here's the question, and it calls for an answer to the question and nothing but the question: in the resurrection, whose children will the marginalized, the poor, the lonely, the abandoned, the faceless, the persecuted be? Whose children will we be? And the answer, and nothing but the answer based on Christian hope, is that we will be the resurrected children of God.
